

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Pulsed plasma deposition of polymers as dielectrics for integrated circuit interconnects fills minimal gaps and yields a porous polymer with thermal stability by plasma off times sufficiently long to dissipate plasma on time energy input plus an anneal of the deposited polymer to drive off occluded monomers and small oligomers.

19